The River and Harbor Appropriation Bill.

BRIEF DOINGS IN THE HOUSE.

A Discussion and Criticism of the Senate Committee on Commerce—Other News Notes.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—In the Senate Pugh, from the committee on privileges and elections, presented a report in the election case of Senator Payne. Hear, on behalf of himself and Frye, presented dissenting views of the minority. Evans made a separate report, presenting the views of himself, Teller and Logan. All the reports were ordered printed in one document, and were placed on the calendar to be called at any time as privileged matter.

Wilson, of Iowa, offered a resolution that inaugural addresses, annual messages, and such special public interest of the several presidents of the United States be arranged in chronological order and printed as Senate documents. Referred to the committee on printing.

Allison submitted a conference report on the legislative appropriation bill. The committee agreeing upon all points of dispute between the two houses, except as to following points: (Clerks for Senators (not chairmen of committees); salary of Assistant-Treasurer at Baltimore; appropriations for three clerks for civil service commission, and relating to the compensation of Internal Revenue agents, surveyors, etc. The Senate still further insisted on its disagreement with the House on these points.

The Senate resumed consideration of the river and harbor appropriation bill, the amendment adopted in committee of the whole being the first to be disposed of, the first point on which was the division on the amendment (offered originally by Ingalls) to items for the Mississippi River, providing that a portion of the appropriation for Plum Point Lake Providence reaches be continued to complete the repair and maintenance of levees throughout such reaches to the height of two feet above the flood of 1882. The amendment was adopted. All amendments agreed to by the Senate in committee of the whole having been disposed of, the whole bill was open to amendment.

McMillan, chairman of the committee on commerce, moved to strike out all after the enacting clause in the bill and insert all the items now in the bill, except that in each case the amount be reduced 25 per cent. He explained that the amount of the House bill was $15,000,000. The amount reported by the committee on commerce was $12,000,000. The amount agreed to by the Senate in committee of the whole was $9,000,000 more, and the amount under the proposed 25 per cent. reduction would be $14,000,000. An extended discussion followed. McMillan said he submitted his substitute by direction of the committee on commerce and he and other members of the committee, during the discussion which followed, explained their position and a majority of the committee were constrained to believe that if any river and harbor bill were to be had the reduction must be made; that so far as the Senate was concerned it would doubtless pass the bill. Edmunds thought the proposed reduction wise. It would be better to make a reduction of 30 per cent. Miller and Eastman wanted to swell the bill through hostility to the administration in order to force a veto. It was an open secret, he said, that arrangements were being made in another body to bury the bill, provided certain things were done or the provided amounts were increased beyond a certain point.

There has been floating about the corridors of the capital in the cloakroom and on the floors of the Senate, the statement that if the bill exceeded a certain point it would undoubtedly meet the executive veto. Miller replied by saying that such a charge. He had no information what ever on the subject. He merely stated that men who stood before the country as leaders of the administration party had stated for weeks and weeks that if the bill exceeded a certain sum it would undoubtedly be vetoed.

The discussion was continued by Ridgely, Call and Plumb. The latter criticized the committee on commerce and referred to the rumors of the Presidential veto as something said under ground by the sewage system between the White House and the Capitol. Conger, member of the committee on commerce, resented the references to his committee, and characterized them as an "insidious attack upon the committee." All through the speech, he said, ran an attack on the motives, sincerity, honesty and honor of the committee. At the close of Conger's speech, which was extremely bitter throughout, the Senate, without coming to a vote, adjourned.

HOUSE.

In the House, Randall, of Pennsylvania, from the committee on appropriations, reported the joint resolution continuing in force till July 31 the provision of the joint resolution providing temporarily until to-day for the expenditures of the government. Passed.

Morrison, of Illinois, from the committee on rules, reported the resolution ordering night sessions on Friday and Saturday, to-night's session being for the consideration of labor business, Saturday's, for the consideration of business reported from the committee on printing. Agreed to.

Holman submitted the conference report on the legislative appropriation bill. The Senate bill providing for the payment per diem for government employees for Decoration Day and the Fourth of July; directing the commission of labor to make investigation in regard to convict labor in the United States; the bill extending the provisions of the eight hour law to letter carriers, gave rise to some opposition, and pending action, the House at 11 o'clock, adjourned.

Consternation Reigns Supreme.

NEW ORLEANS, July 15.—A special to the Times-Democrat from Llanos, Mexico, says: A courier from Soconusco, twenty miles distant, reports that Pancho Cosas, an old revolutionist, has collected a band of lawless characters, and robbed several Haciendas in that neighborhood. They are now camped at Agua Laguna, very near Soconusco, and consternation reigns supreme in that city. Many of the inhabitants are fleeing to Tampico, and some are making for the border. People are evacuating this city. The military of the State of Oaxaca have been notified, and aid is expected to arrive daily.

A special to the Times-Democrat from New Laredo, Mexico, says: Col. Charles Winslow, United States Consul at Guernero, arrived here yesterday. He reports that the insurgents in that section are gaining strength and will move in junction with the revolutionists scattered over the districts bordering on the lower Rio Grande. In this uprising as in the one in last December, in Nuevo Leon, the hands of government could be seen. There is no doubt that before two months are past the State of Tamaulipas will be under military rule. Civil Governor Canales has been deposed and a military governor appointed from the City of Mexico. No engagement has yet taken place in this region.

A Galveston special to the News from Laredo says: For several days past there has been rumors of serious trouble along the Mexican border on the Rio Grande. Yesterday telegrams were received from the City of Mexico ordering troops to be stationed at Nuevo Laredo, down the river, to suppress the contemplated revolutionary outbreak in the State of Tamaulipas. To-day affairs assumed a grave attitude from the fact that number of Winchester rifles have been purchased with which to arm a volunteer company of Nuevo Laredo, to assist in a defense of the city. Later reports received to-night represent that a state of grave alarm exists and that a serious conflict will occur between the government and the revolutionists, who, it is said, have been arming for sometime in the State of Tamaulipas, but the object of their movement has been kept a profound secret. The custom house in Nuevo Laredo would prove the greatest prize that could be captured by any party of revolutionists on the northern border of Mexico. The revolutionary trouble in Tamaulipas, it is feared, will prove widespread and serious.

Nominations.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The President has sent the following nominations to the Senate:

Douglas W. Taylor, Portland, Ogn., to be Surveyor-General of Oregon; Louis Williams, Missouri, to be Commissioner at Alaska, to reside at June City; W. F. Selkirk, Register of the Land Office at Sacramento; Gilbert D. Williams, New York, agent Cheyenne and Arapahoe, Indian Territory. Re-covers of public money, Lake Burke, Aberdeen, Dakota; Wm. G. Hobbs, Springfield, Mo.; Jas. O. Wash, Detroit, Mich. Commodore James E. Joliet, to be rear Admiral; Commodore John H. Russell, to be rear Admiral; Capt. Jno. Irwin and Jas. A. Green to be Commodores.

The joint resolution providing temporary relief for the expenses of the government until July 31st, was submitted to the President this afternoon and was at once approved. The statements prepared at the Treasury department show that the receipts of the government so far this month are decidedly less than the expenditures and unless an improvement occurs before the end of the month, the public debt statement to be issued August 1 will show little, if any, decrease, the payments being unusually heavy, over $10,000,000 having been paid out this week on pensions alone.

At Wimbledon.

LONDON, July 15.—Light in Wimbledon during the rifle contest to-day was good, but the wind was rather strong. The match which had been arranged between members of the House of Lords and members of the House of Commons has been abandoned because it has been found impossible to complete owing to the absorbing interest in the election. The shooting of the Queen's prize was finished to-day. Corporal W. W. of the Aberdeen Rifles, made 96 out of a possible 100, taking the bronze medal. The highest Canadian scores were by Bell, Russell and Wilson—85, 85, and 75.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 15.—While an iron dealer was unloading a wagon filled with old artillery material to-day, which had been purchased from the government, a nine-inch shell, supposed to be improperly loaded, exploded among the group of workmen and others. Sixteen persons, including four children, were killed and several more injured.

The Anarchists' Trial.

CHICAGO, July 15.—The jury to try the eight anarchists charged with the Haymarket massacre, was finally empaneled today. The twelfth man H. T. Sanford, was accepted by the defense before the noon adjournment. In the afternoon when the jurors had been sworn, the State's Attorney produced a large drawing of the scene of the Haymarket riot and began his address. For the last three weeks he felt a great anxiety during the selection of the jury which had somewhat unhinged him. He was now somewhat relieved because the jury, were in some measure, responsible. For the first time in the history of this country, people were on trial for their lives for endeavoring to move anarchy and life. He had to take the last time such a trial would take place. He wanted the jury's careful analysis of the evidence. He wanted the conviction of no man from prejudice or anything except facts, and law. After dwelling upon the atrocity of the Haymarket massacre and upon the meetings previous to that event which were addressed by Spies and Parsons, and to the interview with Spies, in which Spies said such an affair would take place, as the bomb was already prepared. The State attorney said he would be able to prove to the complete satisfaction of the jury that Ling made the bomb which was thrown in to the Haymarket Square on the 4th of May.

After describing the features of the plot to blow up the police station simultaneously and sack the city, the State's attorney said in conclusion, "I will attempt to show you who threw the bomb, and not one single conspirator will be placed upon the stand whom we will not corroborate by witnesses." When the States attorney ceased, the attorney for the defense said they would make no statement for their side until the evidence was all in. To-morrow the examination of witnesses will begin.

The Steam Yacht Race.

LARCHMONT, N. Y., July 15.—In the steam yacht race to-day, at 1:05 the signal was given for the second-class boats to start. The line was crossed in the following order: E. M. Field's Junda 10:53, Al Bateman's Meteor 10:55, Bostwick's Orient 10:57, Herreshoff Launch Henrietta 10:58, and the logship Laguna 10:59. The Henrietta at once began to forge ahead, and when last seen was leading the second-class fleet. At noon Jay Gould's Atlanta and A. E. Commers' Yosemite, the only boat in the first class, got under way. The Atlanta crossed the line at 12:01, the Yosemite 12:02. The Atlanta allowed the Yosemite 26 minutes and from the first undertook to gain enough lead to grant that time. She, when last seen, was proudly drawing away from the Yosemite.

New London, July 15.—The finishing point of the steam yacht race was at Pequot Pier. Thousands of townspeople and summer visitors watched the arrivals from the shore and decks of yachts at anchor in the vicinity. The running time was as follows: First class—Atlanta, 4, 34, 57; Yosemite, 5, 35, 38. Second class—Meteor, 5, 35, 42; Laguna, 5, 51, 39; Junda, 6, 30, 35; Henrietta, 5, 22, 14. Third class—Nereid, 6, 31, 30; Edith B., 61, 29; Viola, 8, 11, 5.

For Disreputable Conduct.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Acting Secretary Fairchild to-day summarily dismissed the chief of division and two clerks in his office for disreputable conduct in connection with an examination for promotion. It seems that the chief of the division had been instructed to prepare examination papers for the promotion in office, and after doing it surreptitiously furnished copies of questions to two clerks under him. A high official of the Treasury Department states that he has been convinced that this practice has been in vogue and that the authorities are determined to put a stop to it as far as possible.

The Duke's Expulsion.

PARIS, July 15.—The expulsion of the Duc d'Aumale was the cause of an exciting scene in the Senate to-day. M. Cheneclont said the Duke's letter to President Grevy in no wise justified his expulsion.

LONDON, July 15.—Duc d'Aumale and Duc de Chartel, with a suit of fifteen persons, arrived at Brussel to-day.

A Watersport.

BALTIMORE, July 15.—A terrible rain storm visited this city to-night. It was more severe in the western section, a kind of watersport, unroofing many houses and doing other damage.

The British Elections.

LONDON, July 15.—No gain was made by the Tories and Unionists combined in the elections. So far it amounts to forty-five seats over and above their holdings in the last House of Commons.

LONDON, July 15.—Lord Salisbury offered the Liberal Unionists four seats in the Cabinet, and the usual ratio of lesser offices. He will permit Lord H. Russell to be leader in the House of Commons and select what office he chooses, except the Premier. Lord Salisbury proposes to again unite the Premier's office with the office of Foreign Secretary. Conservative newspaper reported that the first bill will arise over obstructive tactics by the Gladstonians and Unionists. Ministerial circles deny the charge of extending Gladstone's power of closure. Parnell is disposed to toll the lead of Gladstone, but if Lord Salisbury proposes coercion, every means will be resorted to to protect the opposition.

Gladstone's Rejoinder.

LONDON, July 15.—Mr. Gladstone has written a rejoinder to the Duke of Westminster's reply to the Premier's charge. His grace struck a blow at aristocracy by deserting Liberalism and aiding the election of a Tory candidate in his district, Chester, by the use of money and carriages. Gladstone twice the Duke with working for the Tories harder than he ever worked for the Liberals and suggests that in doing so he was bringing a similar blow at the aristocracy to what which he gave it when he helped to defeat the reform bill. Gladstone says he does not challenge the propriety of the Duke's action, but that he grieved over it. "It was an act against patriotism," continued Gladstone, and he adds: "To disunite the classes and so impair the strength of the Empire is as grave as to strike a blow at the aristocracy which you did in 1880, when you took the chief part in destroying the reform bill and in putting the government. It is not possible that what you did then you may be doing now. In my eyes the gravity of the present issue involves the honor of the empire; the civilized world is watching England's risk policy with discredit and disgust. Government fought to cancel the past on which you shut your eyes and met the present and future demands thinking England's honor should be cleared, I lament this should be prevented."

British Bites.

DUBLIN, July 15.—United Ireland comments on the British political situation in the somewhat raging style. Among other things, it says: "Tricksters, sore heads and mountebanks who are about to assume office in the present tremendous crisis in English history, have in common but one dominating impulse—to grab at the emoluments of power. This is indeed a grotesque sacrifice. It is as if the rascal imbrued himself in the vestments of the priest, for the purpose of robbing all." In another paragraph, the paper says: "Gladstone's opponents deliberately concocted the Belfast tragedies for political purposes. Murder, particular or wholesale, will not stop them any more than it did Ireland's enemies heretofore. Marquis Salisbury, Joseph Chamberlain and Lord Randolph Churchill are as unscrupulous as Pitt, Clare and Castlereagh, but they are funnier. The slanders of the Times and Lord Hartington are as infamous as those of Lord Cornwallis in the General Ross."

A Squabble in Denver.

DENVER, Col., July 15.—Several days ago the Denver Typographical Union raised the scale of composition from 45 to 50 cents. The publishers protested and asked for a corresponding reduction in the scale paid journeymen in job rooms. The union declined to accede, and to-day the publishers asked that a committee of arbitration be appointed to settle the matter, as was done in Washington, Chicago, and Milwaukee. The union refused to settle by arbitration and publishers also refuse to pay the advance, but it is not yet decided what action they will take.

At a six days' typesetting contest held in Boston lately between female compositors, three of the women beat the best record made in a similar contest the week before between the male compositors from the leading newspaper offices.

The Rev. Dr. Storrs, of Brooklyn, wants women appointed to the school board. The proportion of female to male teachers in Brooklyn is an thirty-nine to one. Dr. Storrs pleads for a reasonable proportion of female superintendence.

Mrs. Cleveland's little library, which was sent to Washington from Buffalo a few days after her marriage, is composed of a couple of hundred volumes, varied in character, but with the element of fiction largely predominating. Archibald Forbes set the Washington gossip to talking by gallantly kissing his bride's hand after the marriage service. But the same authorities look agast at the bride, formerly Miss Meigs, because she carried flowers instead of a prayerbook to the altar when clad in a traveling gown.

James H. Moody, the new postmaster at Pottsville, Pa., succeeds Miss Elizabeth Stillman, in whose family the office has been for 24 years. Her mother was the first woman appointed to office by President Lincoln, and her various daughters have held the postoffice for five successive terms.

Mrs. Charles Smith, who does not lecture on female suffrage, has secured the passage of a bill by Congress increasing the wages of chairwomen 30 per cent. and giving them 30 days' holiday, and in addition has succeeded in getting them $1,400 positions on the committee of labor statistics for women.

Await the rheumatic sufferer who resorts to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. That this benignant cordial and depurative is a far more reliable remedy than colicium and other poisons used to expel the rheumatic virus from the blood; is a fact that experience has satisfactorily demonstrated. It also enjoys the advantage of being—unlike them—perfectly safe. With many persons a certain predisposition to rheumatism exists which renders them liable to its attacks after exposure in wet weather, or to cold when the body is hot. Such persons should take a wine glass or two of the Bitters as soon as possible after incurring risk from the above causes, as this superb protective effectually nullifies the harmful influence. For the functional derangement which accompany rheumatism, such as colic, spasm, in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, imperfect digestion, etc., the Bitters is also a most useful remedy. It is only necessary in obstinate cases to use it with persistency.
